Terra Nova Gallery is sponsoring a Benefit Exhibit for Project Compassion with the artwork of Kaziah Hancock.

Project Compassion is a way to say “Thank you” to those American servicemen and women who have given the ultimate sacrifice for America — and for the loved ones they have left behind. For no fee, Kaziah will paint an original oil on canvas portrait of your fallen loved one for the immediate family. In this small way, she thanks you for giving your all in the cause of freedom.

We are the Americans among you who would like to tell all of the brothers and sisters, sons and daughters, husbands and wives in the service, and their families, that our love, our thoughts and our prayers go out to them. Your sacrifices for our country's safety and freedom, we realize, can never be fully appreciated. Our portrait of your fallen hero will shine as an heirloom legacy of honor for generations.

Kaziah has stated about Project Compassion: “Four years ago when I began painting fallen soldiers it was just a simple act of kindness from one human to another. Since then the word has spread across the world. As the requests pile high for paintings we have expanded to six artists and three part-time secretaries to help provide this service to the families of our beloved soldiers in a timely manner. No one had ever expected the amount of casualties.

We remain determined that these oil paintings of a fallen soldier will never cost the family a dime. They have paid the ultimate high price.

We remain committed to continue this project that for generations to come the world will know the beautiful people that have been sacrificed for all that we have.

We have exhausted our donations and it is with humility and great appreciation that we ask all other Americans who can to help support this endeavor. Together we stand. To serve others who have served us is not a labor but a privilege.

May we continue in love.”

This exhibit will feature the artwork of Kaziah Hancock. Her portraits and landscapes will occupy the gallery and ALL the proceeds from the sales will go directly to Project Compassion a 501c(3) organization.
